To whom it may concern,

Mr. Joerg Radestock, from the TFH Wildau, Germany has recently completed an internship in the IT Department at BSH Bosch and Siemens Home Appliances Corporation, located in Nanjing, Jiangsu (P.R. China). The duration of his internship was from 01/09/2006 until 28/02/2007.

During his internship, Mr Radestock gained experience for his future career by implementing different projects for enhancing the BSH Intranet Presence, especially the organizational Web, for the BSH China. The following gives a general description of some of his major tasks at BSH:

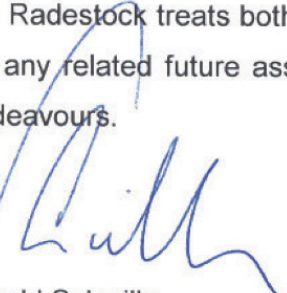

- Programming of web pages in HTML code using Microsoft FrontPage
- redesign of the BSH China organizational Guideline intranet
- reconcile SLA contracts
- give HTML and Microsoft FrontPage trainings

Mr. Radestock has shown exceptional commitment to and interest in the areas of work in which he was involved. Due to his previous experience and fast learning ability, he was able to adapt quickly to new situations and to solve problems in an efficient manner. He always pursued his training with diligence and perseverance.

His ambitiousness and independent style of work, as well as his commitment to his assigned tasks, contributed greatly to our department. Mr. Radestock's work performance was always of high quality, and he contributed sustainable and valuable ideas to pragmatic solutions even under pressure.

Mr. Radestock is a friendly and open-minded person. Because of his kind and cooperative behaviour, as well as his good communication skills, he was able to integrate quickly and seamlessly into the team, in which he became a valuable member. His conduct was always very professional and honest also towards all other departments.

Mr. Radestock treats both his colleagues and superiors with high respect. We would recommend him for any related future assignment, and we wish him all the best and great success in all his future endeavours.
